Delaware North partnered with Love Nance, a renowned Austin-area restaurateur, to create I VINI, a new, Italian-inspired dining experience at ABIA.

I VINI is a sleek, 124-foot “modern Milan” Italian market featuring a curved wine bar, complete with an espresso area, a walk-up takeaway bar for beer and wine, a 30-foot prepared foods section and a seated table service area. Much of I VINI’s food preparation will be done out in the open so guests can watch.

I travel regularly through the airport in Austin and in the last couple of months I've been disappointed that Annie's is under construction. However today I discovered her newest offering and it I no doubt amazing! The food is fresh. The service so great and the taste was outstanding. If you'd like fresh modern Italian food with to eat in or to go this place is awesome. And of course a good choice of wine and coffee. The only comment o would make is the heating/cooking of the pizza rendered the crust a bit steamed and soggy. But still. It's really great. Make sure to check out the next time you're passing through. Just by gate 20. Will eat there again for sure.

This place is under rated. Fast, speedy, great quality, good taste. I would go as far as to not even consider it "airport food" (still a little pricey though) I stopped in before my flight and ordered the caprese sandwich with turkey-wow. The homemade like ciabatta bread, mozzarella, pesto and tomato with the smoked turkey was AMAZING. Must try.

It's a bit pricey, but you can get an excellent meal here. 5 Stars because it's in an airport terminal.

The porchetta panini is a real winner - very flavorful and rich without relying on a bunch of cheese. Get it hot.

The Kale Caesar salad is everything you'd want in a healthy, filling meal. Very lightly dressed and flavorful.

The baked goods are expensive but terrific.
