10:50 AM – 11:30 AM Curate, Create, Convert: There's Levels to this ******

In case you didn't know, airports don't need a large budget to create an effective influencer program. Seattle-Tacoma International Airport has successfully developed a program from the ground up, organized impactful events, and established strong relationships with influencers. You can do it too! This session will feature a step-by-step framework for building a successful program, starting from identifying the target audience to selecting the right influencers based on your airport's niche, engagement metrics, and alignment with brand values.

Abbey Lampert, Social Media Program Manager, Seattle-Tacoma International Airport

11:40 AM – 12:20 PM First-Party Data Advantages to Creating Personalized Experiences

A traveler's journey begins the moment they start planning, creating multiple touchpoints for customer engagement. At each stage, there are opportunities to offer personalized cross-sell and upsell recommendations tailored to their profile and preferences, while providing opportunities for customer feedback leading to increased customer satisfaction. Learn how a connected digital platform integrates data across customer service, marketing, and retail.
